How does solar LED street lighting work?

Solar driven LED street lighting provides high-quality, cost-efficient lighting using sunlight instead of conventional electricity. During the day a solar panel converts solar energy into electrical energy that is stored in a battery. When night falls, the battery discharges, releasing enough power for the LED luminaire to light the road.

How does a solar panel light a road?

During the day a solar panel converts solar energy into electrical energy that is stored in a battery. When night falls, the battery discharges, releasing enough power for the LED luminaire to light the road. As this lighting solution does not consume any conventional energy, its carbon emissions during use are zero.

How much electricity does a street lighting system use a year?

Street lighting systems consume 43.9 billion kW electricity every year. Solar photovoltaic (PV) technology is claimed as a solution for this part of electrical load because of its environmental advantages (e.g., cleaner, less emissions, and no fossil fuel).

Are street lighting systems economically feasible?

The present paper investigates and compares the economic feasibility of two types of systems: islanded and grid-connected system, for the street lighting systems in Hunan Province, China. Based on two options of solar panel materials, a simulation model of the system is developed for economic, technical and environmental feasibility.
