

Letter of Intent for Solar Power Generation Project Cooperation

What is a letter of Intent (LOI)?

A letter of intent, or LOI, is a summary of the most important contractual terms that a solar developer is proposing to a landowner to eventually lease their land. LOIs are sometimes called term sheets, offer letters, or proposals. LOIs are not contracts and are usually not legally binding.

What should be included in a solar Loi?

An LOI should be clear on what sections are in fact legally binding. This section generally clarifies that the developer, not you, owns the solar equipment, all the energy it produces, and any tax credits, renewable energy certificates, and carbon credits.

What is a construction term for a solar farm?

The second term is called the construction term, during which the solar farm is built on your land. An LOI may not specify a construction term if the project to be built on your property is relatively small, such as a community solar project that can be built within weeks. In contrast, a very large project can take several months to build.

What is a solar farm Loi?

Many LOIs include a diagram (a "site layout" or "site plan") of where the developer expects to build the solar farm (the "project") on your property. It may also indicate where, for example, a developer plans to build a fence around the facility, or to construct a small access road for maintenance vehicles to use.
